

What Our Tile Association Accreditation Means For You

At TAP Tiling, high quality tiles are of great importance. We partnered with The Tile Association for this reason. The TTA represent the wall and floor tile industry in the UK. We thought it would be a good idea to share a little more information about the TTA and what our connection to them means for you as a customer.

About The Tile Association

Founded in January 2000, The Tile Association was formed to bring together a wealth of industry experience and knowledge in the tiling trade. Its goal is to become a comprehensive resource for everyone to use, from businesses to consumers. As a consumer, you can use the TTA's website to search for accredited tiling contractors, manufacturers and showrooms. They're available as a resource for consumers, so if you have trouble with a tiler that you've hired, they can help.

The Benefits We Get As Members Of The TTA

We are listed with The Tile Association as an accredited tile supplier. This entitles us to advice and support from the TTA, as well as access to high quality training courses. There's a number of other benefits, all of which are chosen to reinforce our connection to the tiling trade. It's their goal to support their members with resources, facilities and consultations that will bolster high quality tile work.

Why We Joined The Tiling Association

Membership with the TTA isn't given unless you meet their stringent quality requirements. There's criteria that must be met for financial, technical and service standards. This means that the TTA will only work with companies that customers can trust.

In addition to accrediting our high quality products, our membership also gives us access to cost savings which we're able to pass on to our consumers.

The Benefits You Get As A Consumer

Knowing that we're accredited by The Tile Association gives you the peace of mind that we're part of a regulated industry body. We've been put to the test and have shown that our products meet their high standards. You can be confident that you're not dealing with a cowboy or rogue trader when you choose a TTA approved tile supplier.
